ABOUT US

DEPARTMENT OF RURAL DEVELOPMENT AND MANAGEMENT, BANGALORE UNIVERSITY

Centre for Rural Development Studies was established during the academic year 1980-81. Professor T.K. Laxman and Professor. A. Kalappa, are the pioneers to establish this Centre. Sri Begane Ramaiah, the then Minister for Panchayat Raj and Rural Development inaugurated the Centre at Senate Hall, Central College Campus, Bangalore. Since then, the centre has been effectively conducting its academic activities. So far, the Centre has produced considerable number of graduates to facilitate Rural Development process. The Rural Development graduates are serving in very important top positions at different departments including The Department of Panchayath Raj and Rural Development in Karnataka. As part of the academic program like seminars, debate, workshops, village adoption, field activity, arranging special lectures, group discussion, village camps, visit to Gram Panchayath and NGOs, conducting baseline socio-economic survey, Shramdhan, Farmer visit, SHGs and Mahila Mandalas etc.,
